MORE THAN STITES & HARBISON

Prior to joining Stites & Harbison, Ted practiced civil litigation more than 30 years as a partner in several Atlanta law firms.

Ted lives in northwest Atlanta with his wife, Susan, and their two children now in college. He also has two grown daughters with five daughters of their own who reside in North Carolina and Pennsylvania. He has been an active member of St. Luke's Episcopal Church in downtown Atlanta for 40 years. He served on the board and was a past president of the Atlanta Enterprise Center, a job-training program for the homeless, now know as the Atlanta Center for Self Sufficiency, and has recently served three years as board chair of the St. Luke's Training and Counseling Center, an interfaith clinical pastoral education program that provides mental health and counseling to the underserved.
