Tab Barton joined Stites & Harbison in 2001 after serving as President and COO of a regional IT network and services company. As the firm has grown and expanded to various markets across a five-state region, Tab has overseen the successful integration of systems and technologies across various platforms which align with the firm's business strategy and support existing system infrastructure. As CIO/CISO, he is responsible for the firm's IT staff; vendor selection and management; development and implementation of firm policies regarding technology and security; the development and implementation of cyber security standards to reduce vulnerability; risk assessments; security audits; and the ongoing technology research and long-term technology planning.

Tab is also active in the community, including serving on nonprofit technology boards, volunteers annually at a local food bank, and charity fund drives.
